100 DIE, MANY HURT AS BLAST HITS HOSPITAL

Four Hundred Patients Endangered in Chinese Explosion.

CANTON DISASTER

Fire, Adding to Havoc, Sweeps East-Bund Building.

LONDON, June 21.—(INS)—One hundred persons were killed and many were injured when a terrific explosion rocked the East-Bund hospital at Canton, destroying the main building in which 400 patients were housed, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Hongkong today.

Fire followed the explosion, adding to the havoc.

Thirty of the victims were bed-ridden patients in the hospital. The others were hospital workers, visitors and rescue workers.

Red Cross workers, police and soldiers from the various military posts in Canton effected many rescues.

The cause of the explosion has not yet been ascertained. The fire which followed spread rapidly and the main building was a mass of debris in a very short time.

It is not yet known whether there were any Americans or Europeans among the casualties.

INVITING all the wives of congressmen, as custom orders, Mrs. Hoover invited, among others, the Negro wife of a Negro congressman, Mrs. De Priest, to have tea in the White House.

SENATOR BLEASE is not to be congratulated on his reference to the incident.

He should remember that Mrs. Hoover had arranged a series of teas at the White House, which is public property, for "the wives of all congressmen."

Deliberately to strike from her list, one woman whose husband is a member of Congress because she happened to be of African descent, would have been to show contempt for the constitution of the United States.

MRS. HOOVER leaves that to bootleggers and their "respectable" customers. She is to be congratulated upon the fact that she does so.

SEVEN consecutive days of heat in New York City have killed eight, including one policeman, who died on duty.

Ninety degrees, plus great humidity, is dangerous temperature in New York.

One hundred and fifteen degrees in the dry air of the Mojave desert, 2,500 feet above the Pacific, is not disagreeable.

For absolutely ideal weather at this time of year, and to see what is perhaps the most beautiful part of America, take a train to Seattle and the Northwest. Remember that all of the Pacific coast is a summer resort.

A GANGSTER or racketeer killing in these days is nothing to write much about. But what do you think of the name, "Wee Willie Doody" for a gunman and mail robber?

That name interests the police in connection with the killing of a druggist.

Names like "Scarface Al Capone" you can understand.

But what did the gunman do to be called "Wee Willie?"

TO SAY charity is cold puts it mildly. It is too late to ask the opinion of John Nelson, recently inmate of a "home for old folks." He was 79 years old, too young, he said, to be a pauper and live on charity, so he ran away.

HE HAD enough money to pay for a cheap room in a hotel, but none left over to pay for food. He lived a free man as long as he could. Wednesday, standing in front of a delicatessen store, looking at the food, he fell in a faint and died. The doctor said, "starvation." The police said, "starvation and pride."

At all events, John Nelson is out of the home for old folks now, permanently.

CO-ED SLAYER'S WIFE COLLAPSES

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—(INS)—Mrs. James H. Snook, whose husband, a formerly-respected member of the faculty at Ohio State university, confessed he brutally murdered Miss Theora K. Hix, pretty 25 year old co-ed, was in a state of collapse today and under the care of a physician.

She declined to see newspaper correspondents.

Her 2-year-old daughter, too young to be touched by the tragedy that has come to the Snook home, was being cared for at the home of her grandparents.

A woman friend was staying with Mrs. Snook, one of her visitors this morning was her pastor, Dr. Isaac E. Miller of King Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

East Liverpool Man Seeks G. A. Stauffer's Place.

George Wright, of East Liverpool, former Columbiana county sheriff, is expected to be recommended for appointment as United States marshal for the northern district of Ohio, succeeding George A. Stauffer, of Ottawa, Carl Ruth, Washington correspondent for the Cleveland News, said today.

Wright, who recently conferred with United States Senator Theodore Burton, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and Congressman Frank Murphy in Washington, is their choice for the place, according to Ruth.

The East Liverpool man, World war veteran, was an original Hoover man. He served two terms as sheriff.

Marshal Stauffer will retire next January after serving two four-year terms.

Nine railroad ties were found piled on the New York Central tracks near here but were removed by section hands less than a half-hour before the crack train arrived. Kivi was held in jail here Wednesday when police refused to allow him to sleep on the tracks.

"I'M SORRY I KILLED HER," SAYS DR. SNOOK

Deposed O. S. U. Man Confesses Murder of Theora K. Hix.

"DIDN'T PLAN IT"

"I Lost My Head and Hit Her With Hammer."

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—Justice moved at a swift pace today in the sensational case of Dr. James H. Snook, former highly-respected member of the faculty of Ohio State university, who confessed to the brutal slaying of Miss Theora K. Hix, attractive 25-year-old co-ed.

The grand jury this morning heard 31 witnesses testify against the middle-aged college professor. Indications were that an indictment for first-degree murder would be handed down against Snook by tonight.

Snook will be given a preliminary hearing as soon as possible, probably next Monday. It is likely his trial will be set for the new term of court which opens September 15.

COLUMBUS, June 21.—"I'm sorry I killed her. I didn't plan to do it. The argument came up suddenly as we were riding in my blue coupe."

"She threatened to kill my wife and baby. I lost my head and hit her with the hammer."

Sitting calmly in his cell in the county jail today as the authorities rushed preparations to have him indicted by the grand jury for first-degree murder, Dr. James H. Snook, 49-year-old deposed Ohio State university professor, told newspaper reporters why he had killed his paramour, Miss Theora K. Hix, a pretty 25-year-old co-ed and medical student.

Details of Confession.

He feels the disgrace he has brought upon his wife and daughter keenly, the professor said, and he corroborated his formal confession, the essential details of which are:

1.—He hit the co-ed on the head with the hammer to stun her. She struggled and he struck her several more blows. Realizing her skull probably was fractured, he slit her jugular vein with his pocket knife "to relieve her suffering."

2.—Their "affair" had gone too far. He didn't really love her, and she was insisting that he must not leave town for the week-end with his wife and baby. If he did she threatened to kill both of them, the professor asserted.

Rush Preparations for Trial.

While the haggard-faced partly bald and paunchy professor was pondering his plight in his narrow cell, the authorities were rushing preparations to bring him to trial for murder as soon as possible.

Shortly before 10 o'clock this morning, Prosecuting Attorney John J. Chester entered the grand jury room to present his evidence against Snook. This evidence included a confession signed by Snook in which he sketched out the details of the slaying. Chester was accompanied by an assistant prosecutor.

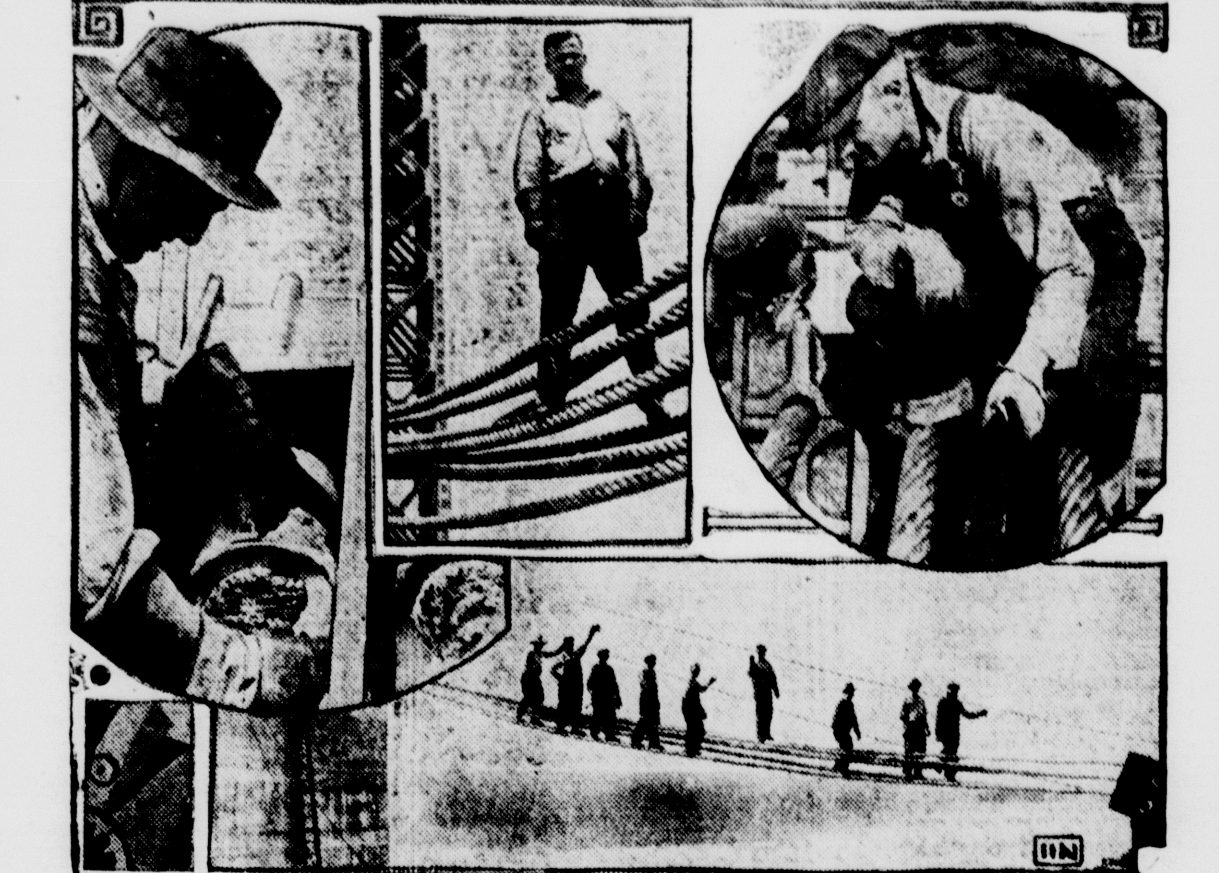

"I will ask for a first-degree murder charge and a quick trial," said the prosecutor as he entered the jury room. He said he would have about 20 witnesses for the grand jury, including a number of detectives and newspaper men.

Chemist Is First Witness.

The first witness before the grand jury was Chemist C. F. Long. Before entering his testimony that his chemical tests had disclosed bloodstains on the coat and trousers, believed to have been worn by Snook on the night of the slaying. Also that bloodstains were on a glove and on the car in which Snook took Miss Hix's body to the rifle range, and on

GIANT SPAN STRETCHES ACROSS HUDSON

A slim footbridge reaching from shore to shore of the Hudson river between New York and New Jersey is the first step in the final span which will carry thousands of motorists between the two states. Upper left shows one of the engineers examining the anchorage of one of the cables supporting the footbridge. James Bowers, center, veteran bridge worker, has fallen 150 feet during his lifetime but that doesn't stop him walking the swaying cables over the river as do some of his bold companions below. Among the engineers on the great span is Lieutenant R. L. Hill, right, graduate of West Point, who is gaining excellent experience working as a laborer.

JAMES HORTON BADLY BURNED IN GAS BLAST

Spark From Motor Blamed for Bulk Station Explosion.

CLOTHES IGNITE

Victim, 49, Milliron Manager, Taken to Hospital.

James Horton, 49, manager of the Milliron filling station, Second and Washington streets, is in a serious condition at the City hospital, suffering from burns received at 7:40 o'clock this morning in a gasoline explosion at the Union street bulk station.

He was pumping fuel from the underground tanks south of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks to the retail station about a block away, when the blast, believed to have been caused by a spark from an electric motor, occurred.

His shirt was ignited in the blast. R. O. Birch, another Milliron employee, answered Horton's cries for help. He rolled the man on the ground and beat out the flames with his hand.

Horton walked to his home in West Second street, and later was taken to the hospital. His face, head, shoulders and back were badly burned. He was attended by Dr. A. J. Michaels.

A shed, housing machinery for a mould grinding establishment near the gas pumps, was fired by the explosion. The blaze was extinguished by the Central department.

$150 VERDICT IN AUTO CRASH

A verdict for $150 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a jury of six persons in municipal court today in the $400 damage action filed by Herbert E. Ruhe, East End, against Mrs. Flora McArt, St. Clair avenue, for damages alleged to have been done to Ruhe's automobile in a collision on the Youngstown-East Liverpool road near the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad station several weeks ago.

The suit for $400 filed by Alvie Yantz, Peaks street, against Jacob and Rachel Seltzer, growing out of an automobile crash on the New Cumberland-Pughtown road, nearly two years ago, was placed on trial before a jury today.

GERMANY VOTES ACCEPTANCE OF YOUNG PLAN

Cabinet Recognizes it As 'Basis of Negotiations.'

STRESEMANN ACTS

Evacuation of Rhineland And Saar Valley Return Expected.

BERLIN, June 21.—(INS)—The cabinet announced today that Germany has accepted the Young reparation plan "as a basis for further negotiations."

The belief was expressed that forthcoming diplomatic conferences would liquidate all post-war problems, particularly evacuation of the Rhineland and the return of the Saar valley to complete German ownership.

Announcement of the government's decision was made upon after the return of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, from Paris where he conferred with Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand regarding convocation of an international council of ministers to liquidate post-war problems.

An official communique announcing German approval of the plan makes it plain that complete ratification of the scheme by the German government hinges on "simultaneous total liquidation of pending questions."

PRIVATE CLASS IS GIVEN ROOM

Permission to use the first grade room at the Grant street school for a six-week kindergarten course was granted by the board of education last night to Misses Margaret Bence and Mary Weaver, elementary teachers.

The board called for bids for the construction of a concrete retaining wall at the Sixth street school. The building and grounds committee was empowered to award the contract.

FRED GLENN, C. A. FERGUSON BLOCK ACTION

Board of Education Lacks One Vote on Appointments.

LAW IS QUOTED

No Recommendations Are Expected Before Sept. 1.

For the second time within two weeks, the board of education, by a vote of two to three, refused to appoint teachers for the 1929-30 term of school at a stormy session last night.

Oppose Two Principals

President F. O. Glenn and Member C. A. Ferguson opposed confirmation of teaching lists carrying the names of Principals I. A. Hoffman and E. O. Harries, while Members J. T. Croxall, Collin Kinsey and R. B. Stevenson voted "yes."

Glenn ruled that in the absence of recommendations by the school superintendent votes of four of the five members were necessary to elect teachers. He also cited a section of the state school law which, he declared, barred Superintendent-elect Herbert G. Means of North Braddock, Pa., from office until September 1.

Glenn ruled that in the absence of recommendations by the school superintendent votes of four of the five members were necessary to elect teachers. He also cited a section of the state school law which, he declared, barred Superintendent-elect Herbert G. Means of North Braddock, Pa., from office until September 1.

Glenn and Ferguson, who stood with former Superintendent C. S. McVay, in his refusal to recommend for reappointment six teachers who are employed this year, withdrew their opposition to the applications of Miss Maude Baum, principal at the Neville school; Miss Fannie Fischer, Grant street elementary teacher, and N. F. Lora, member of the high school faculty, but refused to agree to the naming of Hoffman and Harries "at this time." Miss Grace McNutt, the sixth teacher, it was contended, has no certificate and is "ineligible" for appointment.

Mean's Recommendations Awaited

"Mr. Means has expressed a willingness to recommend the reappointment of Principal I. A. Hoffman and E. O. Harries after he takes up his work here," Glenn said. "If these are recommended by the superintendent I will not oppose their reappointment."

"Then why not include them in the original list which has been recommended, with the understanding that they be approved by Mr. Means?" asked Croxall.

"They have not been recommended by Mr. Means and although he assured me that he would approve their appointment after he took up his work here," said Glenn. "I am opposed to their appointment at this time."

The controversy over the appointments started when Ferguson recommended a motion that the teachers recommended by McVay, together with Misses Baum and Fisher and Lora, be approved by the board. Glenn seconded the motion.

No Charges Against Men.

"I would want positive assurance from Mr. Means that he would recommend Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Harries before I would support that motion," said Croxall after Glenn explained that the superintendent-elect "would prefer it that way."

"No specific charges have been made against these two men and a compromise does not right matters," Croxall added.

"We have 175 teachers who want to know where they stand with regard to their jobs for next year and we are doing them an injustice in making them wait any longer," said Glenn. "The public wants to know, and it is entitled to know. We can make these appointments now and act on the appointment of Harries, Hoffman and others later."

Kinsey Urges Action.

"I can not feel that we would be doing the right thing in dropping educators like Harries and Hoffman," Kinsey said.

Curbing Twin Menace

With another day remaining of the week set aside for the safety campaign, reports received at Columbus indicate that the state-wide drive against the "one-eyed" and "bad tag" violator of the traffic laws is a success.

Sheriff William J. Barlow and police in East Liverpool and other cities in Columbiana county as well as officials in every county of Ohio are co-operating to combat this twin menace, which, according to the state motor vehicle bureau, annually rolls up its toll of injury and death to blameless pedestrians and equally innocent automobile drivers.

In Columbiana county and other sections, deputy sheriffs are patrolling the highways, while in the cities police are on the lookout for motorists who fail to carry two headlights or neglect to dim lights when approaching another automobile. And, too, county officials and patrolmen are checking up license plates, which are concealed by mud or hidden behind bumpers.

Arrests have been made in many cities, while in others offenders have been warned for the first offense. However, if necessary, it is the plan of county and municipal law enforcement officers to make an example of flagrant offenders.

If the automobile death and injury toll in Ohio is to be decreased, the "one-eyed" and "bad tag" nuisance as well as the reckless driver must be driven from the roads.

Take It And Like It

For months we waited for it. For months we watched coal piles dwindle and shoveled snow. In our thoughts were sweet memories of the beautiful days of summer when the trees and grass were green, when the air was sweet with the scent of flowers, when straw hats could be worn—a hundred things peculiar to summer time. Then, after the trees finally began to turn green, after faith in the eternal round of nature had been restored in many doubting breasts, there were weeks of impatience while the temperature belied the appearance of things and all life seemed to be a huge mockery. Those were terrible days with the straw hat and the overcoat hanging side by side in the clothes closet and neither knowing which would go out first.

It's over now. Summer weather is here and people are dying from the heat which has, as yet, reached no spectacular high levels. Women, blessed with the popular style of sleeveless dresses display vast expanses of cooling area to the breeze; men, cursed with the pretense of respectability, suffer with conformist styles in shirts, coats and, in some cases, vests. The pedestrian pants and mops his brow; the motorist opens the window and impregnates himself with flying dirt and dust. Eyes weak from cellular confinement for months and months blink weakly in the strong sunlight. Everyone looks at everyone else and says, "Ain't it awful? It's just about got me down." There is a general feeling of stickiness, of smothered oppression and those same children of nature who longed for the coming of good old summer weather wonder how long they can last without getting out somewhere for a rest away from the heat.

We want what we want when we want it. We wanted summer in the latter part of the winter. We got it in the middle of the summer. Soon, we shall be longing for fall. Few of us ever long for winter, but we'll be ready enough to admit that we are tired of the warm weather. Summer is right here with us while we pant and perspire. Let's get right down to hard work and enjoy it so that next winter's reminiscences will be the more enjoyable.

Congress Job Near End

The tumult and the shouting die and congressmen and senators move one step closer to escape from 90-degree Washington heat. The administration has put a large check mark against farm legislation and assumes a victorious smile. Within two months after the convening of a special session to enact farm legislation, the bill was placed on the president's desk and in the form that President Hoover wanted it.

It creates a federal farm board, the most powerful independent agency of the government established in more than a decade. This board will have a standing equal to that of the federal reserve board in finance or the interstate commerce commission in transportation. Enactment of the measure provides work for eight men at salaries of $12,000 each, annually. It provides the board with a revolving working fund of $500,000,000 annually. In fact the farm bill, the only successful attempt to legislate for the farmer in a number of false starts, is a huge proposition.

Enactment of the legislation does not rub the magic lamp of Aladdin. That effort will have to come from the eight men, whoever they may be, appointed to administer the funds and exercise the power. Mere distribution of the money will do no good; it must be spent.

No one, not even President Hoover himself, knows exactly what is going to happen. Possibly there are plans which have not yet been released for the approval or censure of the public mind, but no one knows anything about them. The president admits that the whole thing is a great experiment and it is. It will not work any miracle over night; experiments never do.

First something will have to be discovered, then something will have to be tried. The first attempt, perhaps the second attempt and others may be failures, but it is the hope of those citizens who supported the measure that under the direction of a central board the agriculturist will be enabled to limp out from the maze of confusion and inefficiency which have tied his hands for years. President Hoover had the men who supported him in his wishes deserve credit for their willingness to try and for the ability, doubtful as it seemed at times, to cooperate for the general good.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—It is a curious fact that the finest examples of the printing and publishing are not seen by the general public at all but only by a limited number of persons engaged in business. This is an age in which the magazine having a million subscribers is by no means a rarity but, finely executed as such successful publications are, they fall far short in beauty of conception and performance and in expensiveness of manufacture of certain specialized publications known as trade papers. These trade papers are subscribed to by manufacturers, dealers, and others especially interested in certain lines of business.

There are many periodicals in the United States enjoying circulation among the general public of more than a million copies. But others having no more than two or three thousand circulation spend more money on appearance. And business advertisers, seeking to impress other business advertisers, try much harder than they do in seeking to impress the public.

Take, for example, a magazine which the general public never sees save by chance or accident, a magazine for the jewelry trade. There is not a single paper of general circulation which can compare in beauty and costliness of advertising display with this publication. The display of a jewel in the advertisement will be colored and embossed in such a way that it gleams. Silver and gold look like silver and gold. Actual gold leaf has been used.

Then examine the trade journal of the perfumery trade. The page on which a certain perfumery manufacturer has his advertisement will be dipped in one of his famous scents and will hold that scent for some time. At least one perfumer in advertising a special sachet has attached to his page in the magazine a tissue paper envelope which can be detached with a flick of the finger.

Many advertisers have pages with sections of paper pasted on them to make the designs stand out. Others will have two or three pages in sequence with holes cut through in accordance with some ingenious design so that the observer looks through a sort of vista.

Obviously this is very expensive work. To begin with, the paper or pasteboard on which these advertisements are printed is of a quality far superior to that used by the ordinary periodical. The color printing is of the most expensive character. But where such stunts as the sachet envelope, the pasted designs, and the like are employed, the particular page of every single copy of the publication must be completed by hand.

Perhaps one of the most interesting groups of publications is that devoted to the advertising and printing trades. Publications devoted to advancement of the printing art and carrying advertisements of makers of printing machinery, processes, inks, etc., must be always in the forefront. Obviously such a paper must display the most perfect examples. And the advertising publications must give the newest tricks, in eye-catching, convincing layouts.

Most important trade papers print annual editions. These are tremendous affairs. Everyone of any importance in the trade feels that he must be represented in the annual numbers of the trade papers in his field. These numbers, usually published at the new year, are preserved by subscribers, as they contain the advertisements of more concerns than any other number. It is not unusual for such an annual number to have more than a thousand pages of reading matter and advertising.

Advertising rates in these trade papers are high and the well-established journals are immensely profitable. They have a different psychology concerning circulation from the ordinary periodical, however. Most magazines are constantly striving to increase circulation, giving prizes for subscriptions, inducing small boys to work for them, and resorting to other means of intensive salesmanship. Not so with the trade journals. Such a journal desires to cover its field thoroughly and usually it does.

After the people engaged in the particular trade to which it caters are on its subscription lists, it actually discourages further circulation. The high cost of producing such elaborately prepared publications, the cost of distribution and allied expenses are such that a positive effort is made to keep would-be subscribers off its lists. To be sure, if a new business is started, that business man will be welcomed as a subscriber by the publication serving his particular line but the outsider is not welcome. One practically has to be recommended before being allowed to subscribe. It is like joining a club.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Thoughts while strolling: Gushing middle aged women who "chaperone" young artists. And grown up ladies who carry Teddy bears. Nothing so cheerless as a hotel about to come down. The negro with rattle-skin hat band selling rubber snakes around the Plaza fountain.

Sinclair Lewis, a Sauk Center, Minn., boy, who made good in the city. The adagio dancer who is a Sunday school teacher. Glenn Anders looks like a college boy. School teacher trippers, Benny Leonard's slick hair. Beauty parlor cowboys. An insolent taxi driver hurls the dime tip at his fare. Vash Young window shopping.

Long haired dreamers who carry limp leather sketch books. Elinor Glynn's wide brimmed hat. Ladies brilliant as electric lights are brilliant. Gigolo types, roaming hotel lobbies with the gait of a sure-footed cat. The outside gleam of the Pennsylvania station at night. The talkies grow dismal.

Molly Flood, the Yiddish comedienne. Praised by Griffith, it that means anything. The boys with dinky mustaches and debries who ride in roadsters. Palm smothered table d'hotes. Who remembers when hand painted coal vases were what? The drug store army of malted milk lunchers. H. H. Van Loan is Mayor Walker's double. So is N. O. Hara.

Mrs. Brock Pemberton, who has costumed so many stage hits. Sedate candy stores refusing to go chain store. Lily cool green frocks and wide flopping hats. Stock favorites from the outland seeing the summer shows. The flapper first nighter who sports a martini. Whatever became of Jesse Reed?

And now the hired book enders are three-sheeted on billboards. All night dental parlors featuring half price after 3 a. m. Ted Healy, a new favorite of the revues. A pajama shop. New York's threadbare words, "georgious" and "absolutely". Mme. Aida of the opera. The whitest haired dramatic critic in town, E. W. Osborn.

Ladies berets that may be carried in vanity cases. A new iced drink—watermelon juice. $1.59 shirts again. Pretty hard to resist stepping to watch them lay an asphalt sidewalk. Autograph collectors waiting at stage doors. The Madison Avenue shop where President Hoover buys his cigars. Very wah-wah!

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

ANYTHING that interferes with the natural and free use of the feet in walking is bound to cause all manner of disagreeable symptoms. If your foot is thrown out of its natural position, strain is bound to be the result. Such strain is capable of causing pain extending anywhere from the foot itself through the leg and into the back.

Many a person has believed himself to be suffering from rheumatism, or even some sort of kidney or spinal trouble, when these organs and parts are really perfectly normal. He is merely paying the penalty of walking on a foot which has become too weakened in certain parts of its delicate structure to perform its function properly.

Flat-foot is the name given this trouble. It is a displacement of the bones of the foot which receive the weight of the body when standing or walking. As a result the arch of the foot is depressed or flattened.

There are many causes of this condition. Chief of these are improperly fitted shoes. They may be shoes with excessively high heels, or narrow or short shoes, or shoes which do not give necessary support to highly arched insteps.

Another cause is the turning of the feet outward in walking. Weakened muscles and ligaments due to exhausting illness, poor health, old age, rapid growth in a child, overweight, prolonged standing on hard floors, corns and bunions and specific diseases—all these are factors in producing flat-foot.

The first measure to take in the treatment of flat-foot is to get properly adjusted shoes. There should have broad, low heels and ample space for the toes.

Everybody should cultivate correct attitude in standing and walking. The sufferer from flat-foot should throw the weight of the body frequently upon the outer side of the feet while standing. He should walk with the feet held parallel and pointed forward, with the weight on the outer side.

The third thing to do is to practice tip-toe exercises twice daily. The sufferer stands with the toes pointed inward, and slowly raises and lowers himself upon the toes, descending with the weight on the outer side of the heels.

If these measures do not give relief it will be necessary to strap the foot with adhesive plaster or to place it for a time in a cast or to use mechanical appliances. Your doctor or the specialist will advise you regarding such treatment.

Even after the condition has been corrected the person who has once

Other Editors Say

War Is Hell.
"War is hell," said Sherman, as the popular idea has it. "War is hell," at least in its earlier stages, says Colonel James K. Parsons of the general staff.

Localize in Boston a condition which Colonel Parsons describes in an article contributed to "The Red Guidon." A call to arms goes forth and the young manhood of the nation responds. Recruits pour into Boston, but they are not hurried on to the structures at Camp Devens. Instead, they find themselves billeted in the Statler, the Copple Plaza, the Ritz Carlton and the other hotels. Instead of double-deck cots they have luxurious beds in which to sleep. There are no leaky roofs to bother them. If it is winter summer temperature prevails indoors, and the howling of the blast is beyond walls of brick which contain no cracks and crevices such as those of a wooden shack. Nearby streets are roped off to provide training areas.

The recruit at this stage of his career might question the accuracy of the description of war attributed to General Sherman, but the civilian, making detours around the training trenches and pill boxes in the streets while he sought a lodging for the night, would doubtless be more than ever convinced that Sherman was right. Some provision would necessarily be made for the civilian on his travels, but not for him the accustomed luxury of the hotels. He might, perhaps, find shelter announced in a sign in a window reading "Civilians Accommodated" as such placards now make reference to "transients." Or, in summer, regulations might be relaxed so that he could sleep in a park, having first obtained his sleeping card from a police station.

For the civilian it is a horrendous prospect of discomfort. It may give him a greater dread of the next war than the lurid tales of whole populations wiped out by gas bombs dropping from the clouds. But behind the program described by Colonel Parsons is the common-sense idea that in war every means should be used to promote the efficiency of the nation in the art of destruction, and the construction of cantonments takes time and much material, and provides at best inadequate shelter. For such portion of the army as they could accommodate why not, then, use the hotels?

But the idea of training large numbers of troops in city streets causes the civilian to wonder whether that is the better way, unless, indeed, military authority regards lodging motor cars as a desirable form of preparation for the next war. And, in such case, it may be said that most of us are good soldiers already.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. G. M. Q.—What can be done for a neurasthenic patient—would constipation be a factor in any way?

A.—This condition can be improved by correcting the constipation and by improving the health in general.

T. W. Q.—What is the cause of ringing in the ears?

A.—This is often due to nasal catarrh which has extended into the inner ear. This can be cured with proper treatment. A nose and throat spray is beneficial.

MISS L. F. Q.—What should a girl weigh who is 16 years old and 4 ft. 11 in. tall?

A.—How can I gain weight?

A.—For her age and height she should weigh about 107 pounds.

2.—Proper dieting is the secret. You should eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep and rest. Deep breathing is essential.

VILLIAM HAINES AT AMERICAN

The first closeup of Hollywood. This is how picture people describe "Man's Man," James Haines' darling, on "Hollywooditis," starring William Haines, at the American today and tomorrow as a sound synchronized film.

MOTION PICTURE PRODUCTIONS — and — LOCAL THINGS THEATRICAL

This new Metro-Goldwyn Mayer picture, based on Patrick Kearney's stage play, is a romance of Hollywood, filmed there and showing intimately the private life of stars and players at the cinema capital. It's the first picture of the kind without a staged "backstage" studio scene.

Instead it shows the famous Hollywood party, true to life, the premiere of "White Shadows" at Grauman's famous Chinese theater, the big show affair of filmdom, with famous stars on parade in one of the red letter nights of the screen season, and other intimate details of the lives of film folk when they're not glittering in the klieg.

In "A Man's Man," Haines plays a soda water clerk in a Hollywood soda fountain, a boy with a correspondence school complex and an ambition to join the Elks, while Josephine Dunn plays a girl who wants to be a movie star. When they marry things happen. The boy "falls" for book agents and correspondence course salesmen; the girl for the blandishment of an assistant director who says she looks like Greta Garbo. Amid the wealth of whimsical comedy and the daring inside glimpses into movie life, there is a pretty love story with a wealth of human interest detail, such as marked "The Goose Hangs High" and others of Haines' famous films.

REAL SWORD PLAY IN "IRON MASK"

To play in a picture with Douglas Fairbanks means real work. To fight with D'Artagnan and his three musketeers means actual combat.

ing has an unexpected twist and is highly dramatic.

Farrell makes a handsome sheik, one sure to flutter the hearts of flappers and older women as well. Miss Nissen, white-skinned and blonde is a decided contrast to the dark, bronzed Prince. Both give remarkable performances. The supporting company includes Mae Busch, Tyler Brooke, John Boles, John T. Murray and Hank Mann.

PATHE SOUND NEWS

MADRID, June 21.—(INS.)—The giant Spanish amphibian plane "Numancia" stood poised on the Los Alcazares flying field near Seville today ready to take off at 4 o'clock this afternoon on a flight across the Atlantic by way of the Azores.

Major Ramon Franco, famous Spanish aviator, will pilot the plane. Major Franco will be accompanied by Captains Sallaz and Ruiz de Alia.

They plan to make their first halt at the Azores, after refueling there, they will head across the broad expanse of the Atlantic to Halifax, N. S. From Halifax they will fly south either to Washington or New York.

After reaching the United States, they plan either to make a return flight over the same route or to continue southward to Havana and Mexico City on the trip around the world which was originally scheduled for the spring of 1928.

According to Franco's original round-the-world flight plans, the "Numancia" after reaching Mexico City, was to fly to Southern California, then up the Pacific coast to Alaska, across the Bering sea, down the Siberian coast to Japan, then across southern Asia and Europe back to Spain. He planned to fly 25,000 miles in about 45 days, making only 20 stops.

"The Iron Mask," Fairbanks' newest United Artists Picture, now at the State theatre, is filled with thrilling scenes of battle. One of the most exciting of these episodes is the fight between the four musketeers, D'Artagnan, Athos, Porthos and Aramis, and the guards of Cardinal Richelieu.

Director Allan Dawn issued a call for the 50 most experienced swordsmen in Hollywood to enact the Cardinal's henchmen. Mr. Fairbanks, Mr. Bary, Mr. Sanford and Mr. Corrado, who play the four loyal musketeers, are expert in the handling of the tapered blades. The fight which they waged was a terrific one.

Many were the bruises which resulted from the fray. The studio's nurse, advised upon for armics, gave, adhesive tape and iodine, to care for the wounded combatants. Four against fifty seems tremendous odds, but this quartet of gallant guardsmen put up a real battle. The wounds while they inflicted upon their adversaries were minor, but many.

"FAZIL" IS STORY OF SHEIK LOVE

Beauty, romance and action make "Fazil," Fox picture now at the Coramie theatre, one of the film treats of the year. Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen are the featured players. The production was directed by Howard Hawks.

Fazil, an Arab tribal prince, is sent to Venice on a diplomatic mission and falls madly in love with Fabienne, a French girl. He sweeps her off her feet with his ardent love-making. Their happy honeymoon is spent in Paris, but before long, his inborn prejudice leads him to object to her freedom with other men and when she refuses to yield to his beliefs, he leaves her and returns to the desert.

Fabienne follows and enters the harem, which he has maintained in deference to custom. He dismisses the harem girls and he and Fabienne are united again. But there are further clashes between the two representatives of East and West, and Fabienne arranges with her friends to help her to escape from the palace, which leads to a tremendous climax, in which Fazil is wounded. The end.

WELLSVILLE, O., June 21.—E. E. Alton, safety agent for the Cleveland and Akron divisions of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a former local shop official, today announced plans for a five-day safety campaign in this district.

The railroad is conducting its annual summer safety drive, the period extending from June 1 to Sept. 30, and is featuring the "careful crossing" angle.

The railroad authorities hope to emphasize the purpose of the campaign through a series of entertainments and demonstrations.

These will be held in Irondale, Salineville, Midland, East Liverpool and Wellsville, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are the dates fixed for the Irondale, Salineville and Midland demonstrations. And while the time has not been determined definitely in respect to those at East Liverpool and Wellsville, it is likely, Mr. Alton said today, that they will be held Thursday and Friday nights, respectively, in the high school auditorium.

The entertainment will consist of music and other features by local and outside talent followed by a demonstration to show the purpose and value of flasher signals, gates and other protective devices. SNOOK CRIES AS HE TELLS MURDER STORY

Professor Uses Hammer And Knife in Killing Co-ed.

BRUTAL RECITAL

Self-confessed Slayer Regarded as Above Reproach.

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—(INS)—A university professor, Dr. James H. Snook, regarded by his friends as a man above reproach, told Miss Theora Hix, co-ed of the Ohio State university, with a hammer and then stuck a knife in her throat, according to the confession which the man told to police in short terse sentences, which followed a crying spell of the usually taciturn man.

Dr. Snook, before he finally broke down and confessed to the brutal slaying, cried for a period of 45 minutes, according to Prosecutor John J. Chester, who obtained the confession.

The young county prosecutor said he did not believe Snook's confession was the "entire story," but at the same time expressed the belief that it "was sufficient."

Battered Girl's Head.
The former university professor, married and the father of a 2-year-old baby, who spent part of his time during the last three years in a "love nest" apartment with Miss Hix as his wife, calmly told today how he first battered the head of his sweetheart with a hammer and then cut her jugular vein on the night of June 13.

The hammer blows were delivered when the couple were in the doctor's coupe. The girl tumbled to the ground. While she was lying on her back, her throat was slashed.

"I didn't want to see her suffer," declared Snook from his jail cell today. "I didn't want to hit her on the head any more. I hated to do that. She was lying on her back on the ground. I cut her jugular vein. She kept moving a little. She had stopped moving when I left."

Miss Hix died fighting and cursing him, the former 49-year-old university professor told newspaper men.

Denies Victim Was Drug Addict.
Though denying that his sweetheart was a drug addict, Snook asserted she had a hypodermic needle such as is used by cocaine fiends.

Snook maintained his motive for the act was the fact Miss Hix threatened to kill his wife and baby if he left her to take his family out of the city on a contemplated weekend visit.

Snook told newspapermen today that before he attacked the girl, she reached for a pistol which she carried and cried:

"Damn you, I'll shoot you."
Dr. Snook confessed to county Prosecutor John J. Chester yesterday at noon, but the attorney withheld announcement of the confession until last night.

Readily Admits Guilt.
Dr. Snook readily admits his guilt. When asked by newspapermen if he thought he was justified in hammering the girl's head and then plunging his knife into her jugular vein, the man replied, "No."

It was a queer twist of fate that Dr. Snook, recognized as one of the best pistol shots in the world, should use a hammer and a knife to commit one of the most grisly killings in the criminal history of the Buckeye state.

The number "13," regarded by all as unlucky, entered into the case. It was on the thirteenth day of this month, that Dr. Snook brought Miss Hix to the New York Central rifle range, on the Northwestern outskirts of the city, and then beat her with a hammer lying on the back of his Ford coupe and then take his pocket knife and pierce her throat.

Slaughter House Method Used.
It is the same in some slaughter houses.

When hogs are killed, they are hit on the head with a hammer and then a knife is pushed into their jugular vein to "bleed them."

It was the thirteenth key on the ring of Miss Hix, that led to the man's confession.

Desiring at the moment of the crime to keep his dual past a secret, Dr. Snook snatched the girl's purse, obtained the key ring, and then took the thirteenth key, which was to open the door of the one-room love nest where Dr. Snook and Miss Hix were known as man and wife.

PORTER IS HELD IN MIX ROBBERY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 21.—(INS)—Russell Everett, 22-year-old colored circus porter, alleged by police to have confessed to the theft of a satchel belonging to Tom Mix, screen star cowboy, and containing $75,000 in valuables, today was ordered held in $10,000 for the October session of the Rockingham county grand jury.

In lieu of bail Everett, who gave his home as Peru, Ind., was remanded to the county jail here to await trial.

According to police, Everett confessed to the robbery and eliminated Cal Frydendahl, valet to Mix, who was promptly released.

BRITISH, SOVIET RELATIONS VOTED

LONDON, June 21.—(INS)—The new labor cabinet, meeting at 10 Downing Street under the leadership of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, today decided to resume diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia at the earliest possible moment, it was reliably reported this afternoon.

After a morning session when domestic issues were discussed, the cabinet reconvened to discuss foreign policies. It is understood the application of Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian Bolshevik leader, to enter England, was discussed.

TODAY LONGEST DAY OF YEAR

NEW YORK, June 21.—(INS)—Today is the longest day of the year.

It marks the debut of the summer solstice which is the scientific manner of saying that summer is here.

Fortunately, the elasticity of money is unaffected.

No Teachers Named

"We are not dropping them," said Glenn. "You have our word that we will support the appointment of these men upon recommendation of the new superintendent."

"These men are not in the employ of the school now and we are not removing them," said Ferguson.

Ferguson's Motion Lost.
"Nevertheless they have an implied contract that they will be retained from year to year," Kinsey declared.

"Why do you favor the appointment of three of these teachers and not the other three?" asked Croxall of Glenn.

"If these three have been so consistently insubordinate as two of them were I would not be in favor of recommending them at this time," said Glenn. "As for Miss Grace McVay she is not eligible to teach until she passed the teacher's examination. Her music certificate can no longer be considered an elementary teaching certificate."

"I do not favor dragging our new superintendent into this matter," said Croxall. "It's not fair to him. We will have no trouble with him. I feel sure. And if there is any trouble it will be because of matters started by his predecessor."

Upon roll call Ferguson's motion was declared lost, Croxall, Kinsey and Stevenson voting against it.

Croxall's Motion Ruled Out.
"We cannot employ teachers until after September 1, as a result of your action," Glenn said heatedly at the end of the roll call. "This motion was put to cause the tension in our schools. All this trouble is due to the agitation of two men and you are wrecking the school system by taking their side."

Croxall said that inasmuch as the local schools were without a superintendent the board had authority to name its teachers. He offered a motion that McVay's list, together with the six instructors whose names had been omitted, be approved and that the following teachers be submitted to Mr. Means for appointment if they were qualified: Misses Mary Fleming, Helen Caphart, Lazzella Birch, Esther Irwin, Mildred Bradford, Harriet Cooper and Mary P. Moore. Kinsey seconded the motion.

"Your motion is illegal," said Glenn. "If that were adopted this board would personally be responsible for the salaries of these teachers who are illegally employed. Personally I cannot stand to pay teachers their salaries."

"We'll take a chance on that," said Kinsey.

Home Teachers Defended.
"Why do we employ teachers from Wellsboro and other out-of-town places and leave local teachers out of jobs?" asked Stevenson. Referring to the list of applicants, he mentioned two teachers who he said were non-residents.

"I'm not in favor of the appointment of these teachers when we have local girls to fill the jobs," he declared.

"Get this," Glenn said, turning to a newspaper reporter. "This man is not in favor of employing any teacher unless they live in East Liverpool. He is not taking qualifications into consideration."

"And get this," came back Stevenson. "I believe in giving the jobs to local people who are just as well qualified for the places as an out-of-town teacher."

"I resent Mr. Glenn's charges that we are giving preference to home teachers not qualified to teach," Croxall declared. "But we are employing out-of-town teachers with two years' training while home girls with four years' college work are out of jobs. We are trying to correct errors in our teaching force."

"You are picking your teachers without consulting your superintendent," charged Glenn. "You are making your new school head a mere office boy."

Glenn Rules Motion Lost.
"Mr. Means has no part in this controversy and I do not believe that he should be brought into it," Croxall said. "We should settle this before he takes charge. I contend that there is no superintendent here and we have the right to select our teachers without recommendations."

Croxall, Kinsey and Stevenson supported the motion on roll call while Glenn and Ferguson opposed it.

"This list of teachers is different from that recommended by McVay and four votes are needed to carry it," Glenn announced. "It is therefore defeated and we still have employed no teachers."

Had the motion carried this board would have been liable for the salary of every teacher on the list.

"We'll find out about that," added Croxall.

State Ruling Will Be Asked.
Glenn submitted a form contract which he proposed be forwarded to Means for his signature. Under the terms of the agreement Means will officially take up his work here September 1, 1929. Means is expected to come to East Liverpool early in July. Occupying the former C. N. Miller home in West Sixth street.

It is probable that J. L. Clifton, Columbus, state superintendent of public instruction, will be asked to rule as to the status of the local school superintendent. Because of the disagreement among members of the board, no teachers can be appointed without the recommendations of the superintendent.

Section 7702 of the state school code says that a superintendent elected after May 1 cannot assume office until September.

Miami's Oldest Graduate Dies.
OXFORD, O., June 21.—(INS)—Miami university is today mourning the death of its oldest graduate, Dr. W. J. Suresly 85. The man succumbed to the infirmities of his advanced age in his home here yesterday. He was graduated from the college here in 1856. He was the oldest member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

OHIO KILLER FACES "CHAIR"

Slayer of His Wife's Mother Denied New Trial.

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 21.—(INS)—A motion for a new trial for Joseph Locke, 50-year-old convicted murderer of the mother of his 17-year-old wife, was denied in common pleas court here yesterday, and today the man is in jail awaiting imposition of the mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair.

The jury at his trial found him guilty of first-degree murder without a recommendation for mercy. He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Mary Gallows, the mother of his wife, Lucy. The girl was his seventh bride.

At the trial, Locke based his defense on his belief that a man is not entirely sane when he is in "love."

Snook is Sorry

some waste found in the automobile. Coroner John Murphy who conducted the autopsy followed Long in to the jury room. The coroner found that any one of the 17 blows dealt the slain co-ed was sufficient to have caused death.

A great crowd of curiosity-seekers thronged the corridors leading to the grand jury room. Most of them were asking, "where is this trial of Snook?" Feeling locally is strongly against the professor.

Slain Co-ed's Father Aids Police.
In the crowd outside the grand jury room, was Dr. Melvin T. Hix of Bradenton, Fla., gray-haired father of the slain co-ed. For days he had been assisting the police in solving the brutal murder.

"This man (Snook) is getting something that is coming to him," said the father. "Of course my daughter can't be brought back to life but this man should be punished for the sake of other daughters."

"I feel that a weight has been lifted off my shoulders now that he is being punished. I don't believe what he says about my girl. He is the man who did all he could to break down her moral reserve. No punishment is too severe for him."

Prisoner Closely Watched.
Professor Snook, meanwhile, was closely guarded in his cell. He was philosophical when informed that the grand jury proceedings were already under way. He seemed relieved. For days, while in custody, he had engaged in a battle of wits with detectives and police officials who grilled him mercilessly.

He had made several conflicting statements in parrying questions of the police. It was a key to the "love nest" he had provided for Miss Hix and a blood stain on a pair of gray trousers that finally trapped him.

Snook had given the key to the landlady two hours before the body of the girl had been identified. The blood stains were on the trousers he had sent to the cleaners.

In his confession Snook said he met the girl three years ago and had assisted her in many ways toward an education. She afforded him companionship that his wife "lacked."

Called Man of "Iron Nerve."
Until his arrest a week ago, Snook was a highly respected member of the faculty of the College of Veterinary Medicine at the state university, Miss Hix, a graduate of the College of Liberal Arts, was a second-year medical student.

Students at Ohio State refer to the professor as a man of "iron nerve." He is a former world's champion rapid fire pistol shot and was a member of the Olympic team in 1920.

Although an expert pistol shot, Snook resorted to the hammer and the knife in killing the girl. And all because, he said, he feared she would shoot him when they got into the argument while riding in his coupe.

"She reached for her handbag," said Snook. "I thought she had a gun. She could shoot."

She could, Snook had trained her in marksmanship at the rifle range on the outskirts of the city.

Slayer Quite Versatile.
Snook was quite versatile. He was the author of a number of magazine articles on sports and outdoor subjects. He has been engaged in writing a book it was while having the manuscripts typed for this volume that

MRS. STUDEBAKER, ALLIANCE, DIES

Mrs. Lucinda Bennett Studenaker, wife of E. B. Studenaker of Alliance, formerly of East Liverpool, died in the Alliance City hospital at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon following three weeks' illness.

She was born in East Liverpool and graduated from the local high school in 1920 and Mt. Union college, Alliance, in 1924. Before her marriage she was assistant principal of the Belmont high school and later taught in the Alliance high school. For the last few years she made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Russell, Alliance.

Mrs. Studenaker was a member of the Methodist Protestant church, Order of Eastern Star and the Delta Delta Delta society.

Besides her husband she leaves an infant son, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bennett, this city, six sisters, Mrs. Cheryl Handy, Soudley, Pa.; Mrs. Bertha Wolfe and Mrs. Dorothy Parks, Columbus; Lydian and Mary Bennett and Alice Braun of this city and three brothers, James, E. K. Jr. and John Bennett, also of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held in Alliance, Saturday afternoon, and at the Bennett home, 203 West Fifth street, Monday afternoon, in charge of the Rev. J. F. PRESBYTERIANS GO TO OHIO SYNOD
WOOSTER, O., June 21.—(INS)—Delegates to the Ohio synod of the Presbyterian church are arriving here today for the seven-day convention which will start tonight.

A school of missions, to discuss the work in foreign fields, is to be held in conjunction with the session.

Dr. George A. Buttrick, New York; Dr. Charles Wishart, Wooster; Mario R. Preston, Chicago, and Mrs. P. C. Tillinghast, New York, are listed as the principal speakers.

KENTUCKY BOY KILLED BY CHUM
GREENUP, Ky., June 21.—(INS)—Thurmond Oliver, 13-year-old farmer boy who lived about five miles from here, lies dead at his parents' farm home today, a victim of a shotgun charge, which was fired into his body by a companion, Forest Deewood, 13.

Police, after investigating, declared the shooting was accidental. The boys were playing in a woods when the tragedy occurred.

Heat Claims Toledoan.
TOLEDO, O., June 21.—(INS)—The heat wave here claimed another victim today. He was John L. McGraph, 29, a paperhanger.

He met Miss Hix. He had written a great deal about fishing, his favorite sport.

He was also a student of nature. Often he took long walks along the countryside, studying plants and birds. He was noted for his kindness to animals and his services as a veterinary were in wide demand.

Snook is anything but handsome. He is middle-aged, inclined to portliness, and has a sagging chin, with a deep cleft in it. He wears glasses and his hair is thin and sparse.

"He hasn't an iota of sentiment in his make-up," was the verdict of several of the officials who grilled him for hours.

World Series Excitement In Doubleheader in New York.

By FORD C. FRICK, International News Service Special Correspondent.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 21.—There were all the indications of world series excitement at the stadium this afternoon as Athletics and Yankees squared off for the double-header which opens their five-game series.

By the time of the first game there were at least 40,000 fans in their seats with other hundreds arriving every moment.

Both Yankees and A's showed signs of nervous strain and there was no kidding and no camaraderie between the rival players.

Both teams went through a snappy hitting practice with Ruth and Gehrig poling out long hits to the bleachers and Simmons and Foxx duplicating the blows.

Herbie Pennock warmed up for the Yankees and Bob Grove for the A's. The selection of Grove came as a surprise since he pitched Monday's game in Washington.

The Babe was back in his old post in right field for the Yankees and Bob Meusel again cavorted in left.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 21.—(INS)—Shooting for the refueling endurance record for light airplanes, Viola Gentry, the "school girl pilot," took off at 11:22 a. m. today in a Cessna biplane.

At 12:22 p. m. Miss Gentry's plane had been in the air an hour.

The refueling plane would "make contact" with the two-passenger machine at 6 o'clock tonight and would supply gas, oil, and further food, it was announced.

Anaconda Copper forged ahead 3 points on heavy buying to 14 1/4, at which price the stock showed a recovery of 15 1/4 points from the May 27 break. Anaconda Wire and Cable, a subsidiary pushed along to 7 1/4, completing a gain of 9 points on the move.

White? Not these clothes!

THERE was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding MeLo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

25 CONVICTS HEMMED IN AS FOUR ARE SHOT

Heavily Armed Guards

In Texas.

BATTLE EXPECTED
Forty-three Desperate
Men in Prison Farm
Break.

SWEENEY, Texas, June 21.—(INS).—Capture of the remaining 25 of the 43 convicts who yesterday escaped from the Clemens prison farm was expected momentarily today with reports that they were hemmed in near here.

Two more convicts, J. L. Hailey and Tom Nichols, were shot down last night, bringing the number of wounded to four. They were shot while attempting to board a freight train.

Two of the other prisoners were wounded earlier yesterday by a ranchman who opened fire on them with a shotgun after they had tried to steal an automobile from a Negro.

Heavily-armed guards today were placed in a circle in the bottoms of the Brazos river and were steadily closing in on the convicts who, like hunted animals, were taking desperate chances to escape. Many of the prisoners are considered dangerous.

A Real Song and Dance Record

This new weekly list of Victor records includes some knock-out dance and vocal material. What we want particularly to call to your attention is the snappy pair of songs by Chick Endor, popular entertainer and nightclub artist. Chick does a wonderful job vocally on this record. Both numbers are wonderful to listen to. But wait till you hear that rhythm and that accompaniment! That was never meant to let your feet rest. You can enjoy fox trotting to this Endor record, or you can sit it out—whichever you like. Come in and let us play it to you!

Swirling pleats on the back trim add distinction to this lightweight cool hat of bankok or bako or woven straw. Cleverly tailored—for the travel or semi-formal costume.

Here's the good old sou'wester brought up to date for Dame Fashion's approval. Moulded, slightly round crown adds to the smartness of this model.

Aviatrix influence makes this an exceedingly swagger hat for sports wear. Developed in felt and dust tones, white and eggshell. Self trimmed.

Scoop-sides with insets accentuating them are a feature of this becoming model equally suitable for the travel or sports costume. In straws or fabric.

SPRINGER ALLOWS BUT FOUR HITS AS CHESTER WINS

McMath Squad Advances In Inter-City Loop Race

Cracker Howell Toils Diligently on Slab for Wellsville But is Accorded None too Good Support.

DOLING out the none too robust total of four bingles, only one of which went for more than a single—that a double by Happy Jackson—Earl Springer turned in a sparkling slab performance last night at Wellsville as the Chester News nine romped off with a 9 to 2 decision and climbed a notch into second place in the Inter-City league.

"That's my weakness now, yep, right now," might have been the tune of Manager Nicholson's mournful dirge as he drove his patched-up club in a desperate effort to stem the irresistible attack of the West Virginians. A combination of unavoidable circumstances weakened the Wellsville nine at a time which proved inopportune, to say the least.

Nevertheless, this fact cannot detract from the efficiency of the Chester club in all departments. Springer was a pretty tough problem for the home clubbers to figure out. Even Bill Talbott, who cracks 'em far and often, went without his customary bingle or so last night. Up until the sixth inning Springer held the opposition to a single hit and that was hammered out by Joe Canne, third sacker.

In the sixth, then, Jackson, Watson and Andy O'Brosky clouted safely to drive in two markers. And Mike Cebula almost hit the cycle. He doubled in the first frame, tripled in the second and swatted for the circuit in the fourth. All he needed was a single to round out his night's work. However, three hits in four times up will do very nicely in a pinch.

Brother Pete had a perfect day. He collected two hits and a walk and was hit by a pitched ball. Joe Canne engineered the only double play of the game. On his fourth trip to the plate Mike Cebula drove a hard-hit ball on a line toward the third sack. Canne grabbed it and caught Pete off the bag at first.

Parsons, Pete Cebula and Mike hit safely in the first frame. These three bingles, coupled with a pair of walks and looseness in the outfield, accounted for a quartet of runs.

The visitors made it five in the second. Cox walked, Campbell doubled, Pete Cebula sacrificed and Mike tripled.

Three additional Chester counters filtered through in the fourth. Parsons started it with a single to right and moved ahead on a passed ball. Campbell popped to Watson. Pete Cebula doubled, scoring Parsons and Mike's four-base smash to center tallied two more.

Chester scored one more in the sixth after Joe Canne's double play. George Cebula got a walk and Morgan doubled to middle to drive him home.

HUSKY HACK SWINGS BAT AT PIRATES

Wilson on Home Run Spree as Bucs Invade Chicago.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Having knocked the Cardinals out of first place by polishing them off in four out of five games, the Cubs will endeavor to defend first place against Pittsburgh in the series starting in Chicago today. The walloping Wrighleys drew half a game ahead of the Bucs by beating St. Louis again yesterday, 7 to 6, while Pittsburgh was idle.

When Hack Wilson rubs dirt on his paws and glares belligerently at the Pittsburgh pitcher as he steps to the plate today, "handle with care" will be written all over him, for the pudgy center fielder is on one of his old-time home run sprees. He has uncorked five circuit clouts in the last three days, his two homers yesterday being the blows that killed Father Breadon's team.

While Wilson was inscribing numbers 15 and 16 on his home run record, Hornsby smacked his tenth round-tripper of the campaign and Kiki Cuyler caused Earl Smith's neck to pucker by hitting him with a line drive.

The Giants advanced to within all-time one game of the third-place Cardinals by making it three straight over the Phillies, 11 to 6.

The rejuvenated Boston Braves also made it three straight from Brooklyn, 4 to 2, and displaced the Robins in sixth place.

Young Ed Walsh of the White Sox looked like his famous dad at his best when he held the Browns to four hits, winning his own game, 5 to 3, by hitting in two runs.

Two pitchers who formerly starred in the American Association were beaten when Jimmy Zinn of Cleveland lost to Detroit, 8 to 4, and Ad Liska of Washington was beaten by the Red Sox, 6 to 4. Vic Sorrell, who hurled for Detroit, hung up his sixth consecutive victory and his ninth win of the year.

TRANSFER NINE BEATS WHIPPETS

Heckathorn, in Slab Debut, Gives Autos Three Hits.

Simms Transfers defeated the Chamberlain Whippets last night at Anderson Acres, 9 to 3, in a five-inning contest.

The Whippets were late arriving and the game was curtailed. Heckathorn made his first appearance on the slab this season and held the Autos to three bingles, although a trifle wild in the first.

Fry, Davis and Moore led the sticks. Tobin's somersault catch back of third was one of the fielding features.

Leaders In Action At Newell

Katies and Laughlin Set For Hot Battle Tonight.

FIGHTING tooth and toe nail to hang onto that hard won position up there at the top of the league he's occupying now, Manager Jack Orr of the Katies will shoot his full strength at the Homer Laughlin club when the two teams clash tonight at Newell.

To this extent he expects to have Jack O'Brosky and Don Stoffell in the lineup and he's confident that Stoffell will be able to hook the West Virginians into submission. Both O'Brosky and Stoffell were scheduled to play at Midland tonight but it is likely they will be excused from duties there so that they can bolster the K. T. K. lineup.

However, Homer Laughlin, as was pointed out, will be the other club on the scene tonight, and that gang has always been known as scrappers when the going gets toughest. Even though tailenders, the Laughlin nine has an excellent chance of coping the flag, depending on their ability to come through in the three or four contests on their schedule.

Whether Manager Joe Dickey will use Dugman, a right hander, or Ray Pollock, recently acquired from the Katies in a trade, is problematical, but in either case the visitors will know they're looking at something when the apple comes sailing down the avenue.

Managers Dickey of Newell and McMath of Chester today announced completion of negotiations for a play-off game tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Chester.

The game was postponed from Wednesday, June 12.

Yanks, A's Ready For Big Push

Double Header Today Will Launch Crucial Series.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 21.—It was exactly zero by the clock this morning to the shock troops of the Athletics and Yankees as they awaited the word that was to send them out of their dugouts and over the top for the do or don't series that many believe will decide the championship of the American league. Personally, I never heard of a pay-off on the pennant in June but every one seems agreed that this is it, the idea being that if the thrice-champion Yankees do not cut materially into the Athletics' lead during the five-game series, ending on Sunday, they can go right out and sell themselves to the nearest delicatessen. In other words, they and their pennant chances will be cooked.

The Athletics were 7 1/2 games out in front before today's double header, which was expected to produce a crowd of 60,000 and to re-enact some of the stirring scenes of last September when this pair battled to the death over the 1928 pennant. The corpse on this occasion was instantly identified by the large "A" that adorned its bosom. Today's double header may tell a new story or re-tell the old. In any case, it largely will forecast the course this series is to take.

Two games will be played tomorrow and the finale on Sunday, by which time the all-time paid attendance record of $5,265 for a single day, established in the 1928, may be no more.

Pennock and Hoyt, not the men they used to be, and Grove and Walberg, who never were better, are likely to be the opposing pitchers in today's games.

240 ARE SLAIN IN FIGHTING IN TURKESTAN

Trans-Caspian Cossacks

Bandits.

RAIDERS FLEE

Vivid Details of Fierce
Battle Reach
Moscow.

By Edward L. Deuss.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MOSCOW, June 21.—Vivid details of fierce fighting in Soviet Turkestan, where Trans-Caspian Cossacks drove out marauding bands of Afghan tribesmen, have at last reached Moscow, six weeks after the last remnant of the raiders fled back across the frontier into the Afghan hills. The total number killed is conservatively estimated at 240, of which the Soviets lost 39 killed and the enemy 201.

Commander Dibenko of the Central Asiatic military district reported to the commissariat of war that a small band of Afghan Basmachi, a mountain tribe that lives by banditry, invaded Soviet Turkestan at a point almost unguarded by the Asiatic forces of the Red army. The Basmachi were commanded by the robber, Baron Maxim Falsul, supported by the self-styled amir of Afghanistan, Bacha Sakao.

Falsul penetrated 49 miles into Soviet territory to the town of Kall Labiab where he called a mass meeting of 500 Mohammedan inhabitants and proclaimed that he was fighting for the liberation of Moslem Turkestan from the infidel Soviet yolk.

"Two more tribes and British troops are coming to help me in this crusade," he said. At Kall Labiab enlistments swelled Falsul's force to 450 men with whom he marched on the important caravan center of Garm, which if captured would control the route across the desert to Soviet Persia.

■ CALCUTTA ONCE VOTING CENTER FOR POTTERS

St. Clair Township Village Has Historic Background.

WAR FAME NOTED

Blood of Revolutionary Leader Runs in Citizens' Veins.

Calcutta, the village north of East Liverpool, has a historic setting that goes back to the days of the Revolutionary war.

Many years ago Ceramic City voters traveled four miles to it to register their political preferences for county, state and national offices. And, too, there was a period, yet vivid in the minds of some of the city's oldest inhabitants when those hereabouts attending circuses had to go to Calcutta where the road caravans of that early day elected to pitch their tents.

The blood of a famed Revolutionary general runs in the veins of some of its present inhabitants and a distant kinship is believed to exist between some of its one time residents and a colorful Confederate leader of the Civil war.

Rev. Thomas Hughes First Preacher.

Under a great tree near the intersection of the streets in the village, the first preaching in St. Clair township was done by the Rev. Thomas Hughes, a Welsh Presbyterian minister who had come to Lisbon from Pennsylvania. He paved the way for the first Presbyterian church built on the spot of the present house of worship atop the hill just to the right of the village. And its first pastor was the Rev. Clement P. Vallandigham, of Lisbon, whose son of the same name opposed so strenuously in the north the war with the south. He became a candidate for governor of Ohio and was defeated while compelled to remain in Canada so bitter was the feeling against him. Later he returned, only to be sent into the Confederate lines. He practiced law following the Civil war and was a victim at Lebanon, O., of a gunshot wound while attempting to show to a jury in a murder case the manner in which the weapon had been used.

Old timers say yellow ware was manufactured at Long's Run, near Calcutta, before Edwin Bennett built East Liverpool's first pottery in 1838. It was said to have been operated by a member of the early Foulkes family and a Mr. Culbertson.

McGuffey Taught School in Calcutta.

William McGuffey, author of the famous readers of the same name, taught his first school in the log-school house then operated by the village. He is said to have lived with his sisters on the plot of ground on which now rests the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Foulkes, the parents of Attorney W. S. Foulkes of the Little building.

The earliest member of this family to settle in Calcutta was Charles Morgan Foulkes, who taught school in the locality while also serving as justice of the peace. There is now in the possession of his descendants several copies of his legal papers which indicate that he could write a script hand that seems much like similar type of the present day.

With William Chamberlain as constable, one of his summonses was made out on May 23, 1837, for appearance in the case in which Edward Crawford was the plaintiff and William Pagan, William Hanna and William McNight were the defendants. It was to be heard a week later. No data remains as to the reason for the hearing. The paper is thus 92 years old.

Descendants of Famed General.

Charles Morgan Foulkes was the youngest son of William Foulkes, of Virginia. The latter married Elizabeth Morgan, a daughter of Gen. Daniel Morgan, who won the hard fought battle of the Cowpens in the Revolutionary war. He was one of the best of the American generals, a man highly regarded by the commander-in-chief, Gen. George Washington.

Charles Morgan Foulkes, the teacher and justice, had two sons, Albert Gallatin and William Stanton Foulkes. The latter became a physician, but did not practice his profession long. He preferred to return to his father's farm where he lived a bachelor all his life.

The former became a lawyer, following service in the Union army during the Civil war. He was in the fighting at Pittsburgh Landing, Tenn., which later became known as the battle of Shiloh. He was named for Albert Gallatin, the famed secretary of the treasury during the early days of the government. He was from Pennsylvania where his home is a landmark.

Albert Foulkes named his son Edwin Stanton Foulkes, he being an admirer of the great war secretary of the Civil war period. Foulkes, still lives in Calcutta, he being the father of William Stanton Foulkes, the East Liverpool attorney.

Lively Place in Stage Coach Days.

Gen. Morgan would thus be the grandfather of Charles Morgan Foulkes, the teacher and justice, the great-grandfather of his son, Albert, the lawyer and soldier; the great-grand-grandfather of Edwin S. Foulkes, of Calcutta, and the great, great, great grandfather of W. S. Foulkes.

USED Furniture Sale

The boss told me to clean house, clear the floor, price things so low there won't be a piece of furniture left. I guess their going to make some changes here. Come quick to Moore's Warehouse Store, on Union Street, between Second and Third Streets, and grab some bargains, if you don't have the cash you can have it charged.

We have almost everything a furniture store carries, only used more or less.

I expect to do as told, clean house, so if you are looking for bargains from one piece to an outfit, come quick.

There's no Extra Charge for Hi-test TYDOL

Emerald Green in color for your protection

A high-test, anti-knock, super-power Gasoline
at no extra cost

What! A real high-test, anti-knock, super-power gasoline at no extra cost! At first, motorists could hardly believe the good news. Because the very words "high-test" and "anti-knock" just naturally suggested the extra charge.

But when the filling station man named the price of this new emerald-green Hi-test TYDOL (not a cent more than the price of ordinary gasolines) then the motor car owner realized that Tide Water had made one of the greatest contributions to the motoring public in recent years.

Instant starting. Double acceleration. Faster hill climbing. Silky, tireless power, under every stress and strain, and with the quiet of a cat on a velvet rug.

You can't hide a super-value very long from wide-awake motorists. Hi-test TYDOL has been a whirlwind of a success because one motorist has told another. And in its own quiet way, by its mile-upon-mile of superb and silent performance, Hi-test TYDOL has done a lot of powerful talking for itself.

Foulkes, of this city, who also was a soldier in the World war.

Charles Morgan Foulkes, who thus was one of Calcutta's earliest residents, came to the village originally from Virginia. He married into the Herbert family. He is said to have also been a distant cousin of Gen.

John Morgan, the Kentuckian, who carried out the sensational raid through northern states and himself had the distinction of leading a detachment of Southern soldiers to the point farthest north reached by those fighting in the Confederate army.

It is significant therefore, that he surrendered his command at just a few miles to the northwest and in the same county where descendants of relatives of his lived.

Calcutta was a lively spot during the stagecoach days when a hotel was maintained in it for travelers. The coach traversed from Beaver, Pa., to the village via Smith's Ferry, Pa.

Named for Indian Fighter. The historic setting of Calcutta is further emphasized by the fact that it is situated in St. Clair township which was named for Gen. Arthur St. Clair, Indian fighter of Revolutionary days and subsequently the

FAMOUS ARMY
PIGEON DIES

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(INS)—Word reached the war department today of the death of the veteran army pigeon, President Wilson, hero of the Meuse-Argonne offensive, at the signal corps loft, Monmouth, N. J.

President Wilson was one of the famous pigeons of the World war, during an intensive machine gun and artillery action the morning of November 5, 1918, he was liberated at Grand Pre, in the Argonne, with an important message. Twenty-five minutes later flying through fire and fog, according to his citation, he arrived at Hampton, 25 miles away, with one leg shattered and his breast pierced by a machine gun bullet.

The message he carried was safe, thanks to the ligaments of the torn leg. The bird was pensioned on his return to the United States and had been enjoying a rest at the Fort Monmouth loft since. He lived to the ripe age of 11 years.

first governor of the North-West territory.

John Quinn, a hunter, is said to have been the first settler in the township, he having erected a cabin in 1792 or 1793 at a point on Little Beaver creek not far from Grimm's bridge. Seth Thomas, a Welshman, located five years later in Section 28. He was the father of Enos Thomas, who in 1803, aided in the organization of Columbiana county. As justice of the peace, he performed the first marriage in Calcutta, the contracting parties being Susannah Shaw and Jesse Smith.

Calcutta was initially called Foulkestown. William Foulkes built the first brick house in it in 1802, one year before Ohio was admitted into the union.

Samuel Quigley was the village's first merchant and his son, Samuel Quigley, Jr., its first physician. He practiced his profession in it for 50 years. Joseph Green, a soldier of the War of 1812, was the first tavern keeper in the village.

The first postmaster of Calcutta was William Christy and the last one was Edwin Stanton Foulkes, who yet lives there. The office was discontinued during the administration of Woodrow Wilson, because of the extension of rural mail delivery to the village.

The United Presbyterians have had a church on the hill leading into the village since 1805.

Frank Crook, Alex Trotter, Sol Paulk and his brothers, the late D. J. Smith and others who have had a prominent part in the commercial and religious life of East Liverpool throughout the years at one time lived in and about Calcutta.

Dizziness And Stomach Disorders Vanish In Short Time

Owa-Ton-Na Overcomes Condition Which Caused Mrs. Lemley Five Years of Suffering.

Good digestion is enjoyed by so few that sometimes stomach disorders are taken as a matter of course by many until this condition reaches a more serious stage. Present day foods and methods of living frequently aid in bringing about weaknesses in digestion. Constipation is such a prevalent disorder and probably is one of the greatest causes of stomach disorders. Poor elimination of wastes from the body allows these wastes to ferment, gradually harming the whole digestive tract. Owa-Ton-Na is a particularly valuable aid in disorders of this kind. It aids nature in the elimination of these poisons and wastes, cleanses the stomach and intestinal tract, tones the liver, thus aiding in the whole digestive process. Its benefits are sometimes so quickly apparent that the sufferer is surprised, yet its results are accomplished not by the use of harmful drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries.

One of East Liverpool's well known residents has found Owa-Ton-Na particularly helpful in such a condition. Mrs. Henrietta Lemley, 206 Armstrong Lane, East Liverpool, Ohio. She says: "Anyone who has suffered with indigestion knows the misery that one can go through with this condition. I hardly made any difference what I ate. I would always have trouble. Gas attacks made my stomach feel as though it were bloated up like a drum. This would crowd my heart and would make me very short of breath."

"Food just seemed to ferment and lay in my stomach. I had an awful lot of trouble with constipation, yet laxatives didn't seem to do me any good. In fact my condition seemed to get worse all the time. My liver, too, must have been very sluggish as I just felt tired and worn out all the time. Gradually my kidneys began to bother me. At times I would get bad dizzy spells and headaches. I tried so many things, in fact it seems I have tried everything I ever heard of, yet one after another these medicines and treatments would give me no relief."

"I read so much about the good Owa-Ton-Na had done for so many people; and when I tried it, it did the same for me. My appetite improved and food didn't distress me. I certainly was surprised when I could go one whole day without suffering with gas. Is it any wonder that I feel so good about Owa-Ton-Na? My bowels started to function normally almost from the first and gradually my stomach trouble disappeared. No more dizzy spells and headaches and my kidneys are functioning normally again. I have never before given my name to be used to endorse anything but I am so well pleased with the results that Owa-Ton-Na gives that I feel that it can help anyone else who is suffering as I did, that it will be a good deed."

Mrs. Lemley is sincere in her endorsement of this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na. It has helped thousands in kidney, liver and stomach disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health. Surely it can help you, too. It is at least worth a trial and a trial is usually sufficient to prove its merits to you. For a short time a special laboratory representative is located at Carnahan's, 114 E. Sixth street store, East Liverpool, who will be glad to tell you about the merits of Owa-Ton-Na. This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East 1st Store, and Newell, W. Va. Store.

Rev. R. N. Ball, Son of Carpenter, Once Expert Sawmill Worker and Champ Speller

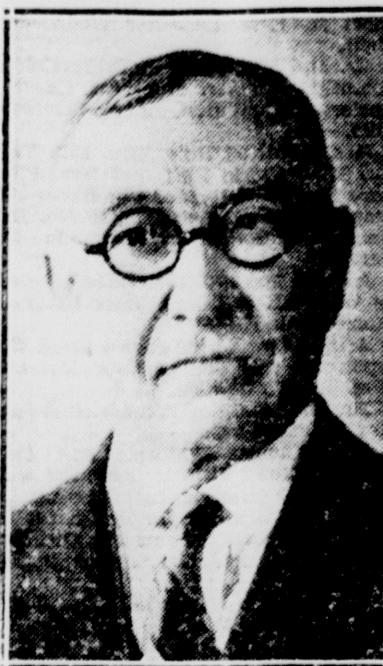

Anderson Church Pastor
Traces Ancestry to Washington.

Within recent months, churches of East Liverpool have experienced an almost unprecedented change in pastors. Exceptions are the Rev. Dr. J. G. Reinartz of St. John's Lutheran church, dean of the city's clergymen; the Rev. John F. Dunitz of the First Methodist Protestant congregation; and the Rev. L. J. Davidson of the First United Presbyterian church.

Among the newcomers none has had perhaps a more interesting career than the Rev. Robert Nathan Ball, who for several months has been in charge of the Anderson Methodist Episcopal church, West Ninth street.

Son of Carpenter.
A son of a carpenter, he is a native of Ohio, born in Marion county just a few miles to the southeast of the city made famous as the home of the late President Warren G. Harding. His mother dying when he was but six, he and a brother and sister were separated the night of her funeral, scarcely to see each other again until they were almost full grown. In his efforts to be united with them, he was placed with a family in Carroll county. There and in Tuscarawas county he later spent many years of his life.

His paternal ancestry carries him back to the mother of George Washington, Mary Ball being her maiden name. Thus in the distance he doubtless has kinship with the father of his country.

Rev. R. N. Ball

On his maternal side he is descended from the famed Edmunds family of England, long members of the nobility of Britain. From this family have come those who later changed their names to Edmonson, Edmoniston and others that have Edmunds as their original root throughout the world. Early members of this family served in the English parliament.

Expert in Sawing Lumber.
Born and reared on the farm, he became a distinct product of the soil, a man who excelled with scythe and corn cutter and who finally developed a capability that made him an expert in the sawing of lumber.

"I soon reached a proficiency that enabled me to do anything about a sawmill which was one of the liveliest and most inviting industries of my early day," he declared. "I became a stationary engineer, indeed for 17 years I operated engines of various kinds. Finally in the Wheeling & Lake Shore yards and those of the Big Four railways I drove locomotives. Present day locomotives have air attachments with which I am not acquainted."

After leaving the rural schools, he attended Mt. Union college, Alliance. He withdrew to teach school, but, to his surprise, the place was given another.

First Charge at Negley.
Disappointed, but undaunted, he returned to the saw mill and continued studying. He became a devotee of the famed William McGuffey, author of the well known school readers and spellers. In those days social diversion was had in "spelling schools" and literary societies. He became the president of one of the latter and the champion speller in all Carroll county by his constant attendance of the former. "In those days there was not a single word from cover to cover of McGuffey's speller that I could not spell," he said.

Developing ability to speak publicly he was asked to enter the ministry, an ambition that he had long cherished. In turn during the years in which he worked hard and studied he was made an exhorter and a local preacher. The former distinction became his in 1882 and the latter in 1887. Despite this he did not feel free to devote all of his time to the ministry until 1901.

He preached first at Negley, this county. Then he went in turn to Southington, Trumbull county, Charleston and Deerfield, Portage county; Lansing, Belmont county; Del Rey, Mechanicstown, East Rochester, New Waterford and Washingtonville, where he lived in Columbiana county and crossed the street to his church in Mahoning county.

Incapacitated for a time by illness he came to East Liverpool from Washingtonville.

Father of Two Children.
Though a widower he has been twice married. He married initially Miss Jennie Dolvin, of Carroll county. They lived together 40 years. She succumbed when he was stationed in East Rochester in 1922. Subsequently he married Mrs. Callie Frye, who also has now passed away.

He is the grandfather of twins, his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Yode of Mechanicstown being their mother. They are now seven years old.

His only other child, a son, has been connected with the Beaver Falls, Pa., post office for 22 years. His brother, William, also a widower, lives in Marion, as does his sister, older than he and a widow.

The years have brought changes in the activities of life since those earlier years when he was wont to walk 10 miles to a spelling bee.

"People in those days signed notes when they borrowed the now considered insignificant sum of $10," he commented. "Now boys and girls frequently spend that much in a single night of pleasure-seeking and think nothing about it."

He spoke also of to hospitality obtaining in rural sections in his youth. "One ate at whatever house he visited and stayed all night when he desired," he explained. "Houses in those days had parlors and some of the sleeping rooms were known as spare rooms."

More than $800,000 worth of American automobiles were imported into Argentina during the first quarter of this year.

GERMAN SCHOOL BOARDS AT ODDS

BERLIN.—Co-education in the public schools has precipitated a conflict between the school boards of Berlin and of the province of Brandenburg, in which Berlin is situated.

The Berlin school board is for it. The provincial school board is against it.

"Co-education promotes immorality, especially in city schools," says the rural school fathers.

"It does nothing of the kind," reply the city school heads, who have protested against the ruling.

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"

Loveable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

"But the Phantom is clever. He has marvelous resources. Surely he can find a way to circumvent the plot."

Wade grunted impatiently. "He could if anybody could. I never yet saw the man who could beat the boss in a fair fight. But these hell-hounds don't fight fair. A rattlesnake is a gentleman compared to them. Believe me, if there was a way to beat their game, the boss would have found it."

The intent look in the girl's eyes showed that she was racking her brain. "You mentioned a man named Whipple, who acts as the representative of the kidnapping gang. What does he look like?"

"Thin and brittle, about five feet seven, with a fishy eye, brick-red hair, no jaw, snappy dresser and talks as if his vocal chords needed oiling."

"Does he come here often?"

"Several times a week. He's been trying to hurry the boss up on payments. Why do you ask?"

"For no particular reason. I was just wondering—"

She paused and looked pensively into one of the shadowy corners.

"Well, I'm a pretty good mind reader. You were wondering why, since Whipple is so brittle, I don't put him across my knee and break him in two next time he comes."

"No, not that; but why couldn't he be followed?"

The fat man chuckled grimly. "It isn't quite so simple as that. The gang we're dealing with is too wise to be caught so easily. I won't give you all the harrowing details, but I'll tip you off to one thing. If we tried any tricks on Mr. Whipple, it would mean sure death for a certain old gentleman that you think a lot of."

Helen shuddered; then she reached across the table, and picking up pen and paper, wrote a brief note. After a moment's hesitation she sealed the envelope and addressed it to Vanardy, then handed the letter to Wade.

"Please see that the Gray Phantom gets it as soon as possible," she urged.

Wade promised, and she rose to go. The fat man followed her lumberingly to the door and closed it behind her.

"She's a queen!" he mumbled when she was gone. "A queen—but I can't dope her out."

Mr. Whipple.

Wind-blown sleets swirled in the air, stinging her face like myriad needle points, when Helen emerged from the building and turned toward the little runabout she had left standing at the curb. Her wrist watch showed a little after 8. The lights in windows and at street corners glowed with a dimmed, yellowish sheen through the mist, emphasizing the sense of unreality which the developments of the last hour had stamped on her mind.

Dark thoughts rushed through her head with an aching throbbing as she took her place at wheel and started to manipulate the levers with an expert touch. She ran the car to the end of the block, made the turn through a tangle of trucks and taxicabs, and proceeded up the opposite side of the street. Out of the corner of an eye she caught a glimpse of a policeman on the corner, scanning the block with an exaggerated air of apathy. On the opposite corner stood another, and above the built-up patrol box behind him was a bulb with a greenish light which signified that the dragnet had been spread for the capture of the Phantom.

At a crawling pace she edged her way through the traffic jam until she came opposite the building she had left a few moments ago, and then a vagrant impression made her glance sharply at the huge plate-glass front of a restaurant. She caught a meager glimpse of a man seated at a table in the farishly lighted interior, seemingly dawdling over his coffee and cigarette. He sat not far from the window, facing the street and looking out upon it with a curiously intent expression.

She drove on for a few paces, but her impression of the man's face lingered disturbingly in her mind. Where had she seen those haunting unpleasant features before? Twice she asked herself the question, and then, abruptly, her own reason supplied the answer. She had never seen the man before, but he had been described to her quite recently. A few phrases of Wade's crude but telling delineation recurred to her: "Fishy eye—brick-red hair—no jaw—"

She drew up to the sidewalk and stopped the car with a jolt. Uncertain what to do, but urged on by a half-shaped impulse, she walked toward the restaurant. Out of jumbled thoughts came the realization that it was far past her dinner hour and that she ought to eat something. In a tremor of excitement she entered the restaurant, sat down at a table to the rear of the red-haired man and told the waiter to bring her tea and toast.

While she ate, she studied the man's back. He was dressed in a rather vivid brown suit. He had a peculiarly shaped head, long, narrow and triangular, remotely suggesting a gorilla. She wondered why he was loitering in the restaurant. His position hinted that he was keeping the building across the street under surveillance. Perhaps he had come to have a talk with Wade or the Phantom, but had been deterred by the discovery that something unusual was going on and was waiting until the commotion quieted down.

Helen tried to compose herself for a wait. She knew it would be a long one if the red-haired man intended to stay there until the cordon was withdrawn. In all probability he would have to go away and postpone his visit till a more favorable time. In the meantime she was trying to consider calmly the daring resolution that was burning in her mind. Wade had hinted that dreadful things would happen to her father if an attempt were made to interfere with Whipple's movements but doubtless Wade had exaggerated being anxious to dissuade her from taking drastic action.

She wished the turmoil in her head would cease, so that she could think clearly. For the present, she told herself, there was nothing to fear. Though her suspense regarding her father was agonizing, it was not likely that any harm would come to him for the time being. As for the Gray Phantom, she relied on Wade's emphatic assurance that he was safe. The dread she felt was of an indefinable but none the less tormenting sort. Her life, ever since the Gray Phantom entered it, had been a constant round of alternating terrors and ecstasies. She had felt herself swept along irresistibly toward some unknown and stupendous destiny.

There had been thrills and shivers in abundance, and she had enjoyed them all. Emotions, at once frightening and exalting, had filled her life to the brim. The exhilaration of it all had gone like wine to her head, and now, in retrospect, it seemed like a delicious dream.

She smiled in remembrance of the mad adventures she had shared with the Gray Phantom. Some day, in accordance with a plan they had often discussed, they would share the great adventure of life. But an odd hesitancy had fallen over the Phantom during these discussions, and once or twice he had confessed himself afraid—afraid of himself. Though the slate had been wiped clean, though he had lived down his past through a series of noble accomplishments, the shadow of other days still hung over him like a great black cloud, projecting a darkening wedge into the future. On occasions he felt the old fever in his blood and it frightened him. Some day the old temptations might stamp him and drag him down, and he did not wish to drag her with him. And so he hesitated.

Helen raised her eyes and glanced furtively at the red-haired man, just then in the act of lighting a fresh cigarette. Though she could not see his face, she sensed an emanation of evil from him, a reflection of the sinister influences that had risen to engulf the Gray Phantom's lofty resolutions. A feeling of loathing toward the man at the other table swept over her, coupled with a more sympathetic understanding of the Gray Phantom's motives. Knowing him as well as she did, she could easily see how severely he had been tried. She would not forget that it was his love for her that had goaded the Phantom to one more plunge into the black swirl of the old life. But he had drawn back just in time, on the very edge.

Collegians Now Receive Advice Against Snobbery

Senator Tells Students
Democracy is Nobler
Path by Far.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York, deviated from his regular commencement address to the graduating class of Davis and Elkins college, at Elkins, West Virginia, to contradict the advice of Professor Robert E. Rogers to the seniors of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Rogers made a long speech to the graduating class, advising them to be "snobs" after they go out into the world, to seek their companions from the socially elite, to seek work among people who are above them, that that was the only sure road to success.

Among other things Professor Rogers spoke of marriage in this wise: "Be a snob. Don't marry the boss' stenographers—marry his daughter." Comes Dr. Copeland and simply smashes this advice to bits with his own more homely but genuine one: "Don't be a snob. Don't try to marry the boss' daughter. God bless you if you are lucky enough to marry his stenographer."

"I care not what particular calling you may follow," Dr. Copeland added. "You will not live up to your responsibilities as an American unless you have a part in all these things having to do with the common welfare."

Senator Royal S. Copeland.

There is nothing nobler than to be a citizen of this great republic. Now what's a guy to do? To be or not to be snobbish, that seems to be the post-graduation question today.

Swarthmore Confers L. D. Degree Upon First Lady

Mrs. Herbert Hoover Wears Maroon and White Cape.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover faced a thousand persons assembled in the Magill outdoor auditorium at Swarthmore college at the 57th annual commencement, and was invested with the maroon and white cape and the honors of the degree of Doctor of Letters.

The degree was conferred upon the First Lady, who wore already upon her academic hood the golden tassel of the doctorate, by Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore, at the commencement exercises, when 112 were graduated.

Parents, faculty members, students and guests rose in enthusiastic applause as Mrs. Hoover accepted the certificate, while Mrs. Ethel Hampson Brewster, former dean of women at the college, placed upon her shoulders the maroon-lined cape of the degree.

"Lou Henry Hoover," said Dr. Aydelotte in addressing her, "because your concern for the common good and your high ability enabled you to aid in two careers, because you share a partnership with your illustrious husband in public life and in national and international affairs, and because at the same time, in the midst of busy life, you have found the time to make high contributions to scholarship, I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Letters and welcome you to fellowship with Swarthmore men and women, a fellowship to which your distinguished husband already belongs."

Mrs. Hoover, using a silver spoon, turned the first sod on the site of the Isaac H. Clothier Memorial Hall.
